In March of this year, Milicruit in partnership with the Military Officers Association of America, DirectEmployers Association, and 20 leading employers launched the 10,000 Jobs for Veterans and Military Spouses Challenge. As the name implies, it is our goal to find at least 10,000 jobs for veterans and their spouses by the end of 2013. In just over three months, these employers have already hired 4,807. The employers who have stepped up to take the challenge are not doing this because they feel obligated, but rather because they recognize and value the skills, education, training, character, and ethics veterans and military spouses bring to the workforce.

Each month, the employers who are partners in the challenge meet with active duty, guard/reservists, veterans and military spouses in the Milicruit virtual career fairs. In the Milicruit events, veterans can view/apply for jobs with all employers, visit employer booths, chat live with recruiters and connect with fellow veterans in the networking lounge. In essence, we bring the career fair to them. All that is needed is a computer with an Internet connection. The next virtual career fair will be on June 26th from 1-4 p.m. and veterans and their spouses can register at www.veteranscareerfair.com.

One of the employers who will be participating is Xerox Business Services. With a long history of supporting and hiring veterans to their organization, Xerox Business Services knows that hiring veterans just makes good business sense. They have committed to hiring at least 1400 veterans and military spouses in 2012 alone. Stop by their virtual booth and chat with recruiters to explore all the positions available with them on June 26th in the Milicruit virtual career fair.

With more than 24,000 jobs available, and over 30 industry leading employers who will be participating, there is sure to be something in there for every veteran or military spouse who may be in the market for a job, or perhaps a career change. From the comfort and convenience of your home or anywhere with an Internet connection, your next job may be just a click away. I hope to see you there.

Cheers.
